DAY 3 : SIKOLTA - BHOJ GADI

Today you will trek to the Bhojgadi campsite from Sikolta. The initial climb starts with walking through a dense forest for about 30 minutes. Crossing the forest, you will arrive at a water source, it is a lovely stream that flows under a bridge. You can fill up your water bottles here. Crossing the wooden bridge you will walk for about 15 minutes until you reach 'Karasu Thatch', which is a section in the trail filled with verdant green vegetation and lined by yellow wildflower blooms. From Karasu Thatch, the Kedarkantha Peak is nicely visible. Take the moment to absorb the beauty of your surroundings. From here there are sections of both gradual ascents and descents and you will see the trail ahead dotted with Rhododendron and Bhoj trees. Thirty minutes of further walking opens the trail into lush meadows; Dhunda Top is clearly visible from here. To reach the Bhoj Gadi campsite, you will have to walk for about 15 more minutes.

DAY 5 : PUSHTARA - TALUKA - SANKRI

5th day will be hectic yet loaded with experience something else to take in consideration is to remain safe and walk gradually. As there is a sharp course when you will walk, you will likewise observe the blend of the two streams one is Har Ki Dun and another is Kyarakoti which meets and make Tamsa River. You need to be somewhat cautious with the trail as throughout the spring there is many flowers so don't harm the vegetation. Later you will cross the Har Ki Dun waterway. Be somewhat cautious and you will effectively cross by. Presently the trail will be taken over with the eye catching Silver Birch, Blue pine and a wide range of vegetation. The Kyarakoti waterway will pursue by you with its full control with its music of 3 km past the stream crossing you will go over two tremendous rocks laying one over the other making a characteristic safe house beneath.

DAY 6 : SANKRI - DEHRADUN

On the 6th day, you'll be amazed as you trek to the magnificent Ruinsara Tal, located about 1.5 kilometers from Untigad. The trail, adorned with silver birch trees, is rugged and takes about one to two hours to reach the lake. During the monsoon, the lake is surrounded by lush greenery, while in winter, it transforms into a high-altitude lake with large chunks of ice. The lake offers views of Swargarohini peaks and leads towards the famous Bali Pass trek. Continuing further, you'll encounter the Kyarakoti Glacier. After an 8-kilometer trek from Untigad, you'll reach the ruined bridge over the Kyarakoti and Har Ki Dun rivers. From here, continue on the trail towards Devsu.
